General Overview of Baghdad Dialect

Baghdad as its residents used to call it, has a unique dialect that includes terms you do not find in all Iraqi dialects. It differs even from the dialect of the people of Mosul, which many see as similar to it.

Baghdad dialect is the reference and is the basis that its inhabitants preserved and passed down from their ancestors.

Although many words have disappeared due to the development and the entrance of new terms, but there is something similar to the verbal rule that necessitates even the new words the way of their pronunciation and activation in different sentences and their singing as well. .

In fact, Baghdad dialect is confined to its original inhabitants only to the extent that it is impossible for anyone who has ever lived in Baghdad, even for decades, to master it.

The dialect constitutes a great national and family bond that is of absolute importance to every Baghdadi who claims to be from Baghdad by origin, residence and affiliation.

As for the dialect of old Baghdad, it refers to the group of dialects of northern Mesopotamia, which is considered ancient Baghdad with its height and tenderness, because it is considered an imperial metropolis dialect at that time, which led to the expression of the opinion of Gina and influenced France what happened to the dialect of Baghdad, which is very close to the current Mosul dialect.
